Without You To Love

Marty Robbins

(Without you to love) There would be no moon above No water in the sea Without you to love

Without you to love There would be no stars at night And nothin' would turn out right Without you to love

I could live without a heartbeat Never take a breath I could never, never, never Live without you

Without you to love There would be no love songs to sing Life wouldn't mean a thing Without you to love

I could never, never, never Live without you

Without you to love There would be no love songs to sing Life wouldn't mean a thing Without you to love
