Soul Sister

Looking back Down that long road you have travelled And I see All the pain that you have suffered

A young girl waks on ancient sand Desert flower in her hand Barefoot on the red heartland Innocence makes few demands

Heart and soul My soul sister Got that special part of me Such sweet love And deep devotion Who would tame what's wild and free?

Here we are In this crazy, crazy world Circumstance Can lead you on to desperation Love can save the weary heart Or it can tear us all apart I would rather take that chance Than to never trust again

Heart and soul My soul sister Got that special part of me Such sweet love and deep devotion Who would tame what's wild and free?

Looking forward Down that long road we might travel And I see All the joy that is recovered See the young boy by the river side He throws a stick to the other side It carries with the rising tide Sometimes we might reach too high

Heart and soul My soul sister Got that special part of me Such sweet love and deep devotion Who would tame what's wild and free?

Loving heart so wild and free Who could chance what's wild and free?
