

Wizard of Oz

Mary Black

Stars may not align in my favour
Truth won't be good enough
I try to make them smile
But I'm not able
It's just too far for me to touch

So please if you find it in your heart
To make me braver in the dark
I know I'll prove them wrong
And take the scary thoughts away
Maybe make me a new brain
I know I'll prove them wrong

The stars may not align then it's all over
It's so much out of my control
I could easily resign chip on my shoulder
Only faith keeps mine on a roll

And again, I think it might be best
If you fill the hole inside my chest
With something more instead
I do and if it's all the same to you
Send me home from where I flew
I know how this will end
I know how this will end

And please can you find it in your heart
To make me braver in the dark
I know I'll prove them wrong
I do, and if it's all the same to you
Send me home from where I flew
I know how this will end
I know how this will end

Stars may not align in my favour
