Walking Through Fire

Mary Chapin Carpenter

When you set a match to your heart, fueling it with bitterness and doubt That's the place that once it starts, no amount of tears can pu t out I know you're scared, but no one's spared when you play with ma tches You got me walking through fire You got me walking through fire Maybe you've been burned by lovers, maybe you've been scarred b y the pain But baby, I'm not like the others, drawing moths to a flame Spite is like a spark, crackling in the dark, consuming all it catches And you got me walking through fire You got me walking through fire to get to you Got me walking through fire (walking through fire) You got me walking through fire (walking through fire) You can see the toll it's taking, you can feel the faith it's s haking You can hear the heart it's breaking now Baby, I've been burned by the fever, I've been scorched by desi re But baby, I am not your deceiver or your eloquent liar Your jealous heart is tearing us apart, turning love to ashes When you got me walking through fire You've got me walking through fire to get to you Got me walking through fire You've got me walking through fire You've got me walking through fire (walking through fire) You've got me walking through fire (walking through fire) As the flames shoot higher You got me walking through fire (through fire), walking
