

Forgiven Me

Mary Mary

I hold a memory of myself reflections of what I used to be these broken roads that got me here can make it hard to face reality but a new day is here
it's time that I embrace it can't wait another day
right now I gotta face it

I never ever wanna press rewind never wanna go back in time not much glory
in that story but it's mine so I'm lovin who I am today
the past has passed away finally I have forgiven me

so young and foolish and not knowing careless decisions that I made I wish somebody would have told me
can't wait another day

the mirror on the wall it lets me see today that I'm, I'm not that foolish girl time has brought a change a transformation the old into the new when I let go of me and held on to you

I hold a memory of myself.....
