They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar I'm just trying to get mine Living my life Stained from the grind Been hustlin so long my life But still they try to bring me down, ohhhhh But they don't really know that I've been watching them close like a satellite But they don't really know that I'll be standing in the crowd in my camoflauge So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar I can see it in their eyes Envy on their eyes, still I'm not suprised You know I'm strong enough to take them hard times I ain't about about to give it up, ohhhhh But they don't really know that I've been watching them pulse with my third eye But they don't really know that You can never change the blueprint of my life So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low They never see me coming under the radar (radar, radar, radar) They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low $\,$

They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low

They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low $\,$

They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low

They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low $\,$

They never see me coming under the radar So I lay low, lay low

They never see me coming under the radar