

Halloween

Mastodon

Orange and black take me back to Halloween I've given to the blind as you can see gasoline runs thru my veins so don't you mess with me I couldn't tame that beast with a handful of meat

Just wait till my robe falls at my feet cold and dilated like my memories strange voices in my head who could they be it's the master of disguise and he's breaking me

You will find spirits never rise without warning
feel your fate as you come alive they're here to take you home

Crashing through the walls you're the one I want to see bent all up on a moon-soaked night death is riding with me

Dripping blood with hell froze at my feet use a razor blade to cut some lines Because now I'm going to speed

You will find spirits never rise
without warning
feel your fate as you come alive they're here to take you