

Everything Is Grace

Matt Maher

Your joy, when the morning comes
Your hope, keeps me looking up
You are enough
Your peace, the eye of every storm
Your strength, when my heart is worn
You are enough

Whatever comes my way
I will walk through the flames
You're turning my fear to faith
My doubt to praise
And everything is grace

Your love, when the wait is long
Your voice, keeps me holding on
You are enough
My delight, when bitterness comes close
My portion, the only thing I know
You are enough

Whatever comes my way
I will walk through the flames
You're turning my fear to faith
My doubt to praise
And everything is grace

True in the pouring rain
True in the crashing waves
It's true even in my pain, my heart can say
That everything is grace

Time after time, Your redemption is mine
Again and again, Your grace is everything
Time after time, Your redemption is mine
Again and again, Your grace is everything

You're turning my fear to faith
My doubt to praise
And everything is grace
True in the pouring rain
True in the crashing waves
He's true even in my pain, my heart can say
That everything is grace
Woah, my heart can say
That everything is grace