

Illusions

Matt Nathanson

I believe in your strength
Though I understand you've felt alone
'Cause when you need a friend
There's no one strong to fall back on
And your past will still burden you
But I'll hold you through the pain
So in the end it's just you
With your memories and your scars
Fall on me if you ever forget
How beautiful you are
I believe in your words and your eyes
And when you speak of your dreams I realize
That I will envy whoever you
Give your heart to
So in the end it s not just you
With your memories and your scars
Fall on me if you ever forget
How beautiful you are
And I will never let you fade away
And I want you to know that I love you
For all you are
And all that you'll be
So in the end it's not just you
With your memories and your scars
Fall on me if you ever forget
How beautiful you are.