Matt Nathanson

Sooner Surrender

In the party love, Some band's playing hallelujah Hallelujah In the corner love All night girls drink wine and try to sing along I made a mess of things The stops and in betweens They weigh me down You got someone new singing you your songs now

Sooner surrender Then watch the last wall collapse And sooner surrender And our love will count for everything

In my sweetest dreams It's just you and me And we break wide I wake reminded love How I just gave up And how you moved on, how you moved on

I'm waiting for something
I've waited for now
For the rolling canyons of love
And i'm tongue tied
And you're coming alive, coming alive

Sooner surrender Then watch the last wall collapse And sooner surrender And our love will count for everything

I'm sorry that you've gone So sorry that you've gone I'm sorry that you've gone Love I'm sorry that you've gone So sorry that you've gone away You're a little bit right More than a little bit right With my arms around you

Sooner surrender Then watch the last wall collapse And sooner surrender And our love will count for everything

Sooner surrender Than watch the last wall collapse I know Sooner surrender and our love will count for everything Our love will count for everything And I miss when you were everything