

i'm telling secrets about the advantages of unawareness i hope embarrassments fade from the eyes of the ones that are sea less i thought you were sleeping i thought you wouldn't mind we turned our amps up high i thought you were sleeping anyway when you see the signs have turned into lines you'll already have gone away it's been on my mind for a long long long time how could you be sleeping all these days