

Where Angels Fear To Tread

Matt Redman

If it wasn't for your mercy if it wasn't for your love if it wasn't for your kindness how could I stand?
if it wasn't for your cleansing if it wasn't for your blood if it wasn't for your goodness
how could I stand?

yet I find myself again where even angels fear to tread where I would never dare to come but for the cleansing of your blood with you there is forgiveness and therefore you are feared Jesus it's your loving kindness that brings me to my knees and I find myself again

in the beauty of your holiness here in the beauty of your holiness
