Empty Road

Matthew Good Band

Throw away your anger Throw away the sheath Charge and spike your heavy guns Because that ain't no kind of belief Dream of where it left you When you were still too young To know the difference between the faith in your heart And the politics of looking dumb It's all I know This empty road It keeps me looking for a place in your heart It's all I know Said brother are you weary? Said sister are you safe? Has this world got you thinking That it ain't nothing but jailers cage? Well child there ain't no worries And child it ain't no thing Because this world's too old to hate you And too young to give up spring It's all I know This empty road It keeps me looking for a place in your heart It's all I know
