Odette

Matthew Good

Hey midnight Turn on your lights Roll out your stars

I look tired But I feel wired And my body hums Like it's coming undone

Don't you lie to me Nothing's already what it seems And even you can spot the fool

Odette makes me forget what I've done What I've become

Don't want to be so wide awake I see just how you take Don't want to be so wide awake
