

Always Be You

Matthew Mayfield

This stream that passes me by
No dreams, no spirits run dry
I know that you would love to meet me here
I know I've got no choice
Two years since I heard your voice
And then you call and say you'd like to talk

Haven't you seen these scars
Buried inside my skin?
These memories that we've lost
May never return again
But it will always, always
It will always be you

You're still the love of my life
Despite the fear in your eyes
Just know that you are always on my mind

Haven't you heard my voice
Carried inside the wind
The chemistry that we've lost
Will never return again
But it will always, always
It will always be you

It's too bad when push came to shove
I was never worth having
It's too far, too much to ask
If you'll ever be happy

Haven't you heard these songs
Making their way back in
The melodies that we've sung
May never be heard again
But it will always, always
It will always be you, you, you
And it will always, always
It will always be you
Be you
Be you
Be you
