

Follow You Down

Matthew Mayfield

First time to meet you, I couldn't be wrong.
I swear that I've known you all along.
The conversation's honest, and her heart is straight so.
Where do we can wish for?
Had a dream, saw a thousand miles of highway, you and me.
No one's tryin to stop this, they can see you're my thing.
If you're gone and I'm here, I could meet you, meet you.
If you're lost and you fall, I'm beneath you, neath you.
No matter where you run I'll be the one to follow you down.
What if you believed me and you were mine?
What if we could make it our whole lives?
Despite the ones who doubt us, this is home, this is right.
If you're gone and I'm here, I could meet you, meet you.
If you're lost and you fall, I'm beneath you, neath you.
No matter where you run I'll be the one to follow you down.
I ain't holdin onto dreams gone, this is real and I will always stay.
It's your skin, your face, your scent, your taste.
Your heart, it moves in my embrace.
And it's been too long since I've felt you here.
You're sweet, I'll call and hear your voice, and hear your voic e.
If you're gone and I'm here, I could meet you, meet you.
If you're lost and you fall, I'm beneath you, neath you.
If you're gone and I'm here, I could meet you, meet you.
If you're lost and you fall, I'm beneath you, neath you.
No matter where you run, no matter where you run I'll be the on e to follow you down.
