

Is Nowhere

Mayday Parade

We go out when the dance is through
Tonight I'm celebrating but it means nothing without you
I think I see someone I know
I'm hiding in my drink, making friends with the window
This weather couldn't get much worse
I'm having conversations with the lines I've already rehearsed to myself

I carry two hearts
You never wanted me to hold you like I could
They carry me through
And there's a choir getting started but I've burned that bridge for good
I believe with my heart

This moment is a loaded gun
The wrong involuntary move and we've killed the fun
The funeral, it brings us back
We've been ready many years, all dressed in black

If you tell me that your life is done
Tomorrow in the morning you can wake up
And you can help someone for yourself

I carry two hearts
You never wanted me to hold you like I could
They carry me through
And there's a choir getting started but I've burned that bridge for good
I believe with my heart

You smile while the symphony plays and tell me music is your only escape
Well I don't hear it anymore, what do we do now?

(This love it speaks, tells a different story)

I thought you were the end of the rainbow
It was such a long road
I thought of you and kept pushing against everything
Now tell me what's the point of taking punches
If you never get the chance to hit back
What's the point of taking punches?
What's the point of doing anything?

I carry two hearts
You never wanted me to hold you like I could
They carry me through
And there's a choir getting started but I've burned that bridge for good
I believe with my heart

You smile while the symphony plays and tell me music is your only escape
Well I don't hear it anymore, what do we do now?
