

Just Say You're Not into It

Mayday Parade

In a show of hands, who has said these words before?
In a show of hearts on the floor, who has ever meant them more?

Well, I'll swallow my pride if you'll stay for the years,
And watch me spin circles as I disappear,
And hearts, they don't lie, they just quiver in fear,
As you say,

Tonight we forget everything,
And we stay the night.
If I was wrong, then I'm sorry.
I'll stop this fight,
For the night,

And this empty space left in the seat
To my right where you should be
Says a lot,
Don't let it say goodbye.
Don't let it say goodbye.
Let it say goodbye.

Forget everything,
And we stay the night.
If I was wrong, then I'm sorry.
I'll stop this fight,
For the night.
And this empty space left in the seat
To my right where you should be
Says a lot.

And today I know that tomorrow
Will shine again golden and bring
Our hearts back home.
And today I know that tomorrow
Will shine again golden and bring
Our hearts back home.

And today I know that tomorrow (And today meant nothing, 'cause
you're gone)
Will shine again golden and bring (And I swear that this meant
everything to me)
Our hearts back home. (But my heart's not home)
And today I know that tomorrow (And today meant nothing, 'cause
you're gone)
Will shine again golden and bring (And I swear that this meant
everything to me)
Our hearts back home. (But my heart's not home)
