

Nothing You Can Live Without, Nothing You Can Do About

Mayday Parade

What are we good for? I think you know
What are we good for? I think you know

In seven years only one goodbye that meant much to me
Down and out and I'm fading fast, I can't keep it all together
If every fairy tale could probe the night and take me into there
Or grab my hand and tell me what's the difference between

Heaven and Hell, 'Cause I can't tell
You'll be my angel through it all
Dressed as a girl, You'll be part of this world
We'll love like fools again

I want to thank you for your card, 'Cause hallmark says it all
I'm sorry if I keep on trying to forget
If you really love me than write about how you never want to live without
This broken boy who keeps on trying to forget

Looks a lot like home, A better place to be
A terrifying feeling, I can't see you
We're always off and then on again
They say that I might be cursed for a while
And I feel it setting in, getting into my head again
Watch me forget my life

How does it feel when you're all alone
I won't answer when you call
I don't want to hear the things I think about the things I can't live without

I want to thank you for your card, 'Cause silence says it all
I'm sorry if I keep on trying to forget
If you really love me than write about how you never want to live without
This broken boy who keeps on trying to forget

I'm trying to find my way home
Well there's nothing worse than walking by myself
I'm tired of believing we could ever heal these broken dreams
When you're still sleeping in someone else bed

I want to thank you for your card, 'Cause nothing says it all
I'm sorry if I keep on trying to forget
If you really love me than write about how you never want to live without
This broken boy who keeps on trying to forget

What are we good for? I think you know
What are we good for? I think you know
What are we good for? I think you know
What are we good for? I think you know
