

Be Like Me

MDFMK

I hear you speakin' loud and clear but I still can't understand
I think I'd rather kill myself than meet your demands
I never needed reason to reason with my mind
I can see the future and today is a good day to die

I need new enemies, I need new strategies
I need the pain to feel something
I need to shed some skin

To be like me again, a brand new me
To be like me again, again, a brand new me

I read the writing on the wall but the message is all wrong
I got the world inside my head and it's ticking like a bomb
I never needed justice to justify myself
I can see the future and it looks a lot like Hell

I need new enemies, I need new strategies
I need the pain to feel something
I need to shed some skin

To be like me again, a brand new me
To be like me again, again, a brand new me

Flip the switch, pull the plug
I fell inside the hole I dug, yeah
Walk the walk, crash and burn
Another stone, I have to turn

I need new enemies, I need new strategies
I need the pain to feel something
I need to shed some skin

I need new enemies, I need new strategies
I need the pain to feel something
I need to shed some skin

To be like me again, a brand new me
To be like me again, again, a brand new me

To be like me, be like me
To be like me, be like me
To be like me, be like me
To be like me again