

A Loss In The Ranks

Me vs Hero

Your name rings out over every thought I have
Your voice echoing brings me to my knees
You meant so much to everyone you touched
It's drained the strength I need to keep me on my feet
And as the days slide past I still miss your laugh

We sat on these rooftops wishing on stars out at night
They would brighten up the open sky
We sang with this jukebox having the time of our lives
We never got to say our last goodbyes

If I could bring you back I'd give up everything I have We'd play our symphony until we could hardly breathe
I hope you know the hardest part of letting go
Is the space it leaves deep inside of me
And as the days slide by I still wonder why

We sat on these rooftops wishing on stars out at night
They would brighten up the open sky
We sang with this jukebox having the time of our lives
We never got to say our last goodbyes
