

Fall from Grace

Meat Loaf

I... I fall for everything
Under the sun, over the moon
Coming undone, broken in two

You... you fall for anything
Living the lie like all the rest
Walking the line out on the edge

Every saint is a sinner someday
No one is safe

You can fall from grace in so many ways
One step forward, two back
You can't run away from that empty space
You will find your place
When you lose your way
We all will fall from grace

I... feel like I never land
Out of the grey, into the black
Wasting away, starting to crack

Life... life is just history
Learning to die, reaching for stars
Coming to life, wearing the scars

Every saint is a sinner someday
No one is safe

You can fall from grace in so many ways
One step forward, two back
You can't run away from that empty space
You will find your place
When you lose your way
We all will fall from grace

And it's a sweet salvation
When you know you've hit the bottom
And you can finally pick yourself back up

Fall from grace, in so many ways
One step forward, two back
You can't run away from that empty space
You will find your place
When you lose your way
We all will fall
We all will fall
We all will fall... from grace
