

A Letter from Home

Mehida

I saw you there
Standing near Waiting for a train to take you away from here
I was there
Beside you
On the platform
You decided to go on your way

The wind is cold
Silent breeze of a memory makes it colder

Where have you been, sweet child of Mine?
I've cried so many tears knowing you suffer
No matter what you've done
All this time I wanted to tell you
You're welcome home
Welcome home

I'm still here to hold you near
To let you heal through My wounds
I never left you alone

The wind is cold
Silent breeze of a memory makes it colder

Where have you been, sweet child of Mine?
I've cried so many tears knowing you suffer
No matter what you've done
All this time I wanted to tell you
You're welcome home

Where have you been, sweet child of Mine?

Where have you been, sweet child of Mine?
I've cried so many tears knowing you suffer
No matter what you've done
All this time I wanted to tell you
You're welcome home
Sweet child of Mine
You're welcome home
