

Teach Him

Melanie Fiona

No one's perfect
No one's certain what life's all about
It's a door we can't figure out all alone

So we trust in who we can Never understand why
Never good or bad
Just in-between,
Like any other man

So I teach him,
Teach him not to lie,
Make him laugh until he cries,
Hold him, stand by his side
Hoping he'll change his way of life.

Having seen the light for many nights,
Still I keep the vision of candle lights
Wanna be alone, wanna be with you
I'm so confused

So the next time we meet,
We'll do it again
Whatever your heart's fixing,
Never good or bad
Just in-between,
Like any other man

So I teach him,
Teach him not to lie,
Make him laugh until he cries,
Hold him, stand by his side
Hoping he'll change his way of life.

No one's perfect
No one's certain what life's all about
Sometimes it's the man to be figured out
Never good or bad
So I understand

So I teach him,
Teach him not to lie,
Make him laugh until he cries,
Hold him, stand by his side
Hoping he'll change his way of life.
