

Break Up Song

Melissa Ferrick

Maybe I'm off, yeah, I'm strangely askew
Maybe I ran away just when you started to get a good
View
Maybe I turned out to be, nothing like the me you made
Me out to be
And so another one's gone, yeah, another love lost
And I'm bitter and rusted and I want off with my heart
Convinced I'm over, I'm convinced I'm through
I'm certain of one thing is that I'll never love anyone
Again
Not the way that I loved you

Yeah cause I'm blank, I'm still, but I'm numb from the Pain
And I'm fine with the weather and with us being not
Together
And I'm tired of faking cause I've been faking it for
Years
And I'm sick of writing this song about how love always
Disappears
I know, know you tried, I know, It's just gonna take me
Sometime
Yeah for me to stop hearing my voice telling you good
Bye.

Cause I was taught that love grows
So why does it always seem to just fade on me
It's hard to admit that I was wrong
I was wrong to lead you on that way
Yeah I told you that pain is temporary
And I made you believe that our love exists
Do you wanna know what the saddest part of all of this
Is
The saddest part is that right now, I don't even give a
Shit

Cause I'm blank, I'm still, but I'm numb from the pain
And I'm fine with the weather and with us being not
Together
And I'm tired of faking cause I've been faking it for
Years
And I'm sick of writing this song about how love always
Disappears
I know you tried, I know it's just gonna take some time
Yeah I know, I know you tried
I know it's just gonna take some time
Yeah for me to stop hearing my voice telling you good-
Bye
Good-bye
Good-bye

So I dropped you at the curb
Leaned over and gave me a 'so long'
And I pull out and turn the radio on
I took a long deep drag... to our break up song.