

I Will Arrive

Melissa Ferrick

Love doesn't know
An unknown heart
No love doesn't know me
Not for real

So then who am I
On this mapless trip
To think that I could make love to you
Holding on to my fists

So I just let go
and I let you in
But I'm afraid that I'd fall apart limb by limb
So I hold on to the dream that one day
I will arrive
and I will arrive.

So then who are you
Standing in the midst of doubt?
But you're always smiling
From the inside out.

And I think you know
Yeah, the answers I seek.
It's that love knows you, baby
And it knows when you're weak.

Yeah, so I just let go
and I let you in
But I'm afraid that I'd fall apart limb by limb
So I hold on to the dream that one day
I will arrive
and I will arrive.

So I am
At the station
You are waiting
Holding my heart at your side
And I am
At the station
You are waiting
Holding my heart at your -- holding my heart.

And I just let go.

Yeah, and I just let go
and I let you in
But I'm afraid that I'd fall apart limb by limb
if I just let go
and I let you in.
I'm afraid that I'd fall apart limb by limb,
So I hold on to the dream that one day
I will -- hold on to the dream that one day
I will arrive.
And baby, I will arrive.

Yeah, I will arrive.
