

If Ever I Recall Your Face

Melody Gardot

Forget all that's said and done when your heart's a lonely one and see my dear that heaven is a place whenever I recall your face

Life can be so lucky now some may win and others don't know how but I could drop my losing hand with grace whenever I recall your face

While leaving town you leave behind the ones you love for who you find but love no other arms could take your place
whenever I recall your face

In the oceans of your eyes lies a look I recognize a glance that leaves me dancing polonaise whenever I recall your If ever I recall your face...
