Ideas for Walls

Men Without Hats

So many things in my head, I've always had them before No reason to be upset, they're just ideas for walls Now I'm standing inside, outside, which is the right side I'm standing, demanding that the nightlife be called the right life Like putting paint on my feet and walking sideways in rows My walls could be so complete, complete with patterns of toes Now I'm standing inside, outside, which is the right side I'm standing the left side, right side, which is the right side Now-ideas Ideas for walls Ideas for walls Ideas for walls A little m for the mirror, a double you for the wall To make things perfectly clear, a great big H in the hall Now I'm standing inside, outside, which is the right side I'm standing, demanding that the nightlife be called the right life Is everybody confused? (no) I'm making no sense at all You want a room with a view you need ideas for walls Now I'm standing inside, outside, which is the right side I'm standing inside, outside, outside, right side Inside, outside, which is the right side Now, ideas Ideas for walls Ideas for walls Ideas for walls Ideas They're just ideas for walls Ideas for walls Ideas for walls Ideas for walls Ideas for walls
