In the mirror... I have seen HIM And he scares me The crature... behind the mask I wear I know his name is FEAR In the mirror... he's looking back at me I have to face him every day And I know him not so well, his name is FEAR So deep within, yet so far away I... wonder, will he always stay Stay so deep within, deep within my soul And I know him not so well, his name is FEAR The man... in the mirror, he scares me For I know him not so well The creature... behind the mask I wear I know his name is FEAR In the mirror... it's not omy eyes I see But they are always there I cannot let it show, NO ONE must ever know The horror that lies so deep within Tucked away beneath my skin And it scares me, yes it scares me So deep within, yet so far away I... wonder, will he always stay Stay so deep within, deep within my soul And I know him not so well, his name is FEAR No man... nor any book, will ever teach me What I need to know No man... nor any book, will ever teach me What I'm longing for Only the creature... living inside of me Could show me the meaning of life I cannot let it show, NO ONE must ever know The horror that lives so deep within Tucked away beneath my skin And it scares me, yes it scares me
