There's a little old man...

Standing by my window

There's a little old man...

Hiding in the shadows

The univited guest,

Could never have been a friend

The univited guest,

He would never come back again

There's a little old man...

I'd say he looks like Misery
There's a little old man...

I could really use his company
The univited guest,
Could never have been a friend
The univited guest, H e would never come back again

Come inside...

And stay for a little while

Come in from the cold and warm your heart

"You would not know of me...
We never met before
The name is Damian
And I used to live in this house"

The univited guest,
Could never have been a friend
The univited guest,
He would never come back again
There's a little old man...
I'd say he looks like Misery
There's a little old man...
I could really use his company

The univited guest,
Could never have been a friend
The univited guest,
He would never come back again
So I said farewell...
Until we meet again

You can come again my friend,
Any day you want
I later learned that he was never here
I later learned that he'd been dead a year
The univited
