

Only Temporary

MercyMe

Don't let the situation get to you
This is not a hill worth dying on Do't let these circumstances tear your heart in two
Soon enough this chapter will be gone

What's insurmountable today
Will surely one day fade away

There's a reason why this world just don't feel right
Cause we are strangers who are simply passing by
In light of all eternity
It's only temporary

This place was never meant to be my home
Not comfortable in my own skin
Which may explain some of those days I feel alone
Standing on the outside looking in

But you're not hearing me complain
Cause I'm already on my way

This place was never meant to be my home
Not comfortable in my own skin