

For All I Know

Merle Haggard

For all I know you never cared about me
And chances are I never crossed your mind
Maybe you won't understand me calling
But darling, it's been such a long, long time

For all I know there may be someone with you now
But maybe he won't mind the friendly call
You've already made it clear that you stopped loving me
And for all I know, you never cared at all

I can't help it if I sound like I've been crying
'Cause darling, I've been crying all night long
I just call to let you know just how much I need you
And for all I know you may be there alone

Surely you must know, I'd give the world to see you now
And could be you'd like to have me one more time
You've already made it clear that you stopped loving me
But for all I know I may have lost my mind
And for all I know I may have lost my mind
