Step By Step

Ooh

I learn about life through your life I learn about touch through your hands I learn about love through your heart I learn to be kind where I can

But the window's still broken It's starting to freeze And the only thing I ever wanted Is scattered in the breeze

I learn about strength through your strength I learn about hope in your eyes I learn about taste through your lips I learn about trust through your lies

But the cuts are still open They're starting to bleed It's the only thing I ever wanted The only thing I need

Can you teach me to feel it? I'll take it step by step so I never miss a thing Make me feel it I'll get inside your head till you live inside me Teach me to feel it I'll take it step by step so I never miss a thing Make me feel it I'll get inside your head till you live inside me

I learn about life everlasting I learn to contain your surprise I learn about faith by believing I learn about lust when it dies

And you're all I ever cared for Through all that I've done And the only thing that's not sewn up Are the lessons left undone

(repeat chorus to fade)
