

No Tomorrow

Metal Church

A future is something that you'll never know
Something that's hiding and will never show
Seeing the fingers are pointing at you, will you die?
Losing your mind is like losing your soul
Something you're fighting while losing control
You're on your knees while you're throwing your hands to the sky!

All the Kings and all their Kingdoms
Pay the price for all your needs
All the Kings know what they're doing
Live your life like there will be
No tomorrow

Your damaged mind is now taking its toll
Changing perception, distorting the soul
Reaching for things that will only exist in your mind
Just when you think you've found security
I'll take you away into obscurity
Spending your day searching for all the things you can't find