Wherever

It doesn't matter where you are Someone is there with you, I fear It doesn't matter where you are I can't complain Ignore the stain Christmas day is over Lights out, breathe slower

Cannot sleep Open your eyes Look outside Tell your goodbyes

It doesn't matter where you are When you're alone Light a small fire I don't like your sparkles at all Guitarist and his centerfold Why is that fire old? A green light is a red light In your dreams tonight It's like a battle, battle.

Christmas day is over Lights out, breathe slower

I told you why I am lonely But you can't stay Tomorrow, streets, blank faces Stare unwilling But there are so few

Cannot sleep Open your eyes Look outside Tell your goodbyes

Cannot sleep Open your eyes Look outside Tell your goodbyes

And I'll be waiting around your house
