Or Just Rearrange

Micah P. Hinson

You don't know where to go Or go where you know You're running away

But you'll always give advice But never pay the price For running away

Some things will change Or just rearrange And I know, I know

You don't where to go Or go where you know You're running away

But you'll always give advice But never pay the price For running away

Some things will change Or just rearrange And I know, I know