

Paradise

Michael Bolton

The time is right for the doorway to the open sky
But a moment passing by, we let it slip away
Oh, we can take the night to sanctify the burnin'
In an everlasting sight, it's calling us to stay

Here tonight, I can feel the heart of my fantasy
After awhile, I will reveal the secrets you gave for me
Oh, your love waits so deep for me

And it's alright, alright here in paradise
I know it's alright, feels so right here in paradise
It's alright, alright here in paradise
I know it's alright, feels so right here in paradise, yeah

In a world outside the voice of our insanity
The world in all its' madness is fading like a memory
I long to hold you now, this love of mine will never die
Till there's no space or time, no distance between you and I

There's a fire in my heart that will burn till I find a way
Here inside, we can feel what our words were not meant to say
Our words can't pretend to say

And it's alright, alright here in paradise
I tell you it's alright, feels so right here in paradise
But it's alright, alright here in paradise
I know it's alright, feels so right here in paradise, yeah
Yeah

Here tonight, I can feel the heart of my fantasy
After awhile, I'll reveal the secret you gave for me
Why did love wait so deep for me?

And it's alright, alright here in paradise
I told you it's alright, feels so right here in paradise
It's alright, alright here in paradise
I know it's alright, feels so right here in paradise

Alright
Alright
