No Rusty Swords

Michael Card

Don't you know the battle's raging And you got to join the fight There's an army of the darkness And an army of the Light There's a side that fights for Satan And a side that's for the Lord And on this battle field there are no rusty swords And on this battle field there are no rusty swords Christ has made the final move So our side is sure to win He became like us so we would have A chance to be like Him It seems strange so many fall back When the victory has been won You just need to ask yourself Which side you're on

There's a fact you need to understand
Before you join our side
You need to know when Jesus calls
He bids you come and die
He's invaded Satan's kingdom
And He's claiming all His own
When the battle's over
He will lead us home

And on this battle field there are no rusty swords
