

A billion bright and holy beams
Of a light that's traveled far
Began the trip from His fingertips
The wonder of the stars
Affirm the signs and seasons
So silently they sing
Of the wonder of their kindler
Of the power of their king

Oh the fiery suns above us
In the vast veil of the sky
Are your servant flames of fire
Are your silent holy guides
And like the star-lit magi
May they guide our souls to you
As they shine the light of awesome love
Into eyes that see anew

A billion bright and holy beams
Of a light that's traveled far
Began the trip from his fingertips
The wonder of the stars
And like the star-lit magi
They guide our souls to you
As they shine the light of awesome love
Into eyes that see anew