Michael Learns to Rock

When I woke up in my bed
Opened up my eyes this morning
I saw the heavy black side of my soul
Was creeping out the window

The happiness I felt disappeared again
'Cause there was someone knocking at my door
I guess it is the postman
With a lot of messages from the world outside

Keep all your bills
Keep all your papers away from here
Leave me alone
It is such a lovely day

No matter what you do in your life
You know you always have to sign
In a world where we're drowning in papers
It's difficult to hold the line

Newspaper pages always full of lies
Letters that make me cry
Sometimes I think that I've got enough
You better keep that stuff away from my side

Keep all your bills
Keep all your papers away from here
Leave me alone
It is such a lovely day

Keep all your bills
Keep all your papers away from here
Leave me alone
It is such a lovely day

Keep all your bills
Keep all your papers away from here
Leave me alone
It is such a lovely day

Keep all your bills
Keep all your papers away from here
Leave me alone
It is such a lovely day
