

Please Forgive Me

Michael Learns to Rock

You didn't wanna wake up
'cause in your dreams
the sky was blue You couldn't make the rain stop and it was hard to hold the truth

A heavy shadow in the light
That is slipping out of sight
Leaving more than just an empty bed leaving more than just confusion in your head

Now you can make the rain stop 'cause now you're old enough to know where I went wrong

A heavy shadow in the light
That is slipping out of sight
Leaving more than just a broken heart
leaving more than just one question for the stars
A heavy shadow in the light
That is slipping out of sight
Leaving more than just a broken heart
leaving more than just one question for the stars

Now I had to fly away to another place
I was sad, but I had to get a smile back on my face So can you please forgive me now

Things are getting better and we are no longer blind everything looks different So can we leave it all behind

A heavy shadow in the light
That is slipping out of sight
Leaving more than just a broken heart
leaving more than just one question for the stars
leaving more than just one question for the stars
leaving more than just one question for the stars
leaving more than just one question for the stars
leaving more than just one question for the stars