

Tell It To Your Heart

Michael Learns to Rock

Tell it to your heart
everyone's a star
So she said
And landed in the street early one morning right in front of me she threw out her spell

Tell it to your mind leave it all behind Now we will spread our wings and fly under the great skies through the night so blue I'm holding on to you

She came to me like an angel
when everything was torn apart Erasing all the madness
she came and blessed a broken heart

Listen to the sound
Grace is all around
You will see
So invisible and so insane in the darkest blue It's waiting for you

She came to me like an angel
when everything was torn apart
Erasing all the madness
she came and blessed a broken heart

No reason to forget
No reason to regret
No reason to deny
And time for asking why

She came to me like an angel
when everything was torn apart
Erasing all the madness
she came and blessed a broken heart
