

You'll Be Okay

Michael Schulte

Cold, as you turn off the lights
And memories start floating around
You're doubting yourself
And you're tired of not being strong

It hurts to be all on your own
But you'll just have to wait
Cause time's running fast
And it calms you to know it won't last

It's easy to say
It'll all be okay
But that's always the way
It goes

Slow down, slow down, slow down
Slow down, slow down, and you'll be okay

Torn and lost once again
You start to believe it won't end
And still you're alone
With the fear that you're forever unknown

You cannot understand
Why you're always the one that gets hurt
And life is unfair but it pulls you back in
When you're almost gone

It's easy to say
It'll all be okay
But that's always the way
It goes

Slow down, slow down, slow down
Slow down, slow down, and you'll be okay
