

Untame Lion

Michelle Tumes

I love an untame lion.
He's calling me to come.
My cold heart, how it hesitates.
I want to turn and run.

His power is dangerous.
His power is endless love.

I love an untame lion.
He's broken every chain.
I'm free now how can I resist?
His voice sings out my name.

He's calling me
to a place where love's the only song.
He's calling me
to a place where night will dance.
With endless dawn dancing on and on and on.

I try to hide in sleeping.
His music fills my dreams.
I'm filled with longing for a place;
a place I've never seen.

He's calling, I want him so.
He's calling, I can't let go.

He's calling me
to a place where love's the only song.
He's calling me
to a place where night will dance.
With endless dawn dancing on and on and on.

Shadows falling, His voice is calling
Golden as the sun.
It is morning without warning,
I fall into his love.

He's calling me
to a place where love's the only song.
He's calling me
to a place where night will dance.
With endless dawn dancing on and on and on.