

Still No Shangri-La

Michelle Wright

You brought your pictures of paradise and they looked so real to me

You had the tickets in your right hand and I started to believe

That heaven wasn't so far away and I thought we did get in

We laughed and we played like summer days

But something was missing

How the sun did shine

And the fire burned bright behind our hungry eyes

Our fantasy lives

And in our innocent hearts

But after all, still no Shangri-la

I remember your gentle kiss and the music in your hands

I remember the golden glow on the shores of Canaan Land

Baby we flew way so high we could hear the angels sing

Even now after it all came down

I still wouldn't change a thing

How the sun did shine

And the fire burned bright behind our hungry eyes

Our fantasy lives

And in our innocent hearts

But after all, still no Shangri-la

Sometimes I miss you at night, sometimes I suddenly cry

Sometimes I think it's all right, sometimes I still wonder why

We tried with all of our might, still we had to say good-bye

How the sun did shine

And the fire burned bright behind our hungry eyes

Our fantasy lives

And in our innocent hearts

But after all, still no Shangri-la

Almost felt like it

Shangri-la

Still miss you at night

But it's gonna be all right

Miss you baby

Still no Shangri-la
