

Boomerang

Mick Harvey

Have you never been there?
It's the first symptom,
I read that somewhere
A jam session of percussionists

It is in my eyes, the image reversed
I say to him "neither you nor you", I tell him "her".
She has to know, you have to know at the same time that I love you
But it is not possible to also be a jerk.
Delirium, that's what I have!

I drive you out of my thoughts
I reject you, I run away
But you return to me, you come back yet again
Like a boomerang

If you could strike yet again
One mortal blow for evermore
To stop my life so you won't come back again
Like a boomerang

Sometimes I believe I'm cured
I feel my heart no longer beats
I rest until that day comes
Between life and love

Take in pity this poor love
Complete it well one good time
Go away, yes, go away, don't come back again
Like a boomerang
