

You're always try
to hide in the night and blink at the door You'd let it go
though you'll never know when it all may be gone we close our heart
we shut down our world
to rumors you know Tore down the shield your future reveals where the feel's yet to go

You've gotta open up your mind and feel love in the light You've got to open up your heart and feel love in the light
You've gotta open up your mind and feel love in the light
You've got to open up your heart and feel love in the light
love in the light

they won't decide watch time glassing by then float away
you cant get ill
just typewrite on in to the rows we could play dissatisfied
you always have tried to divert with goodbyes though what you seek who knows it could be right in front of your eyes

You've gotta open up your mind and feel love in the light
You've got to open up your heart and feel love in the light
You've gotta open up your mind and feel love in the light
You've got to open up your heart and feel love in the light
love in your life