Seeing Is Believing

Midnight Oil

I was asleep with both eyes open Dream freeze sprinklers in the sun Beer soaked mansions block the sky, Dingos howl and white flags fly The future's put on hold and you're still young

But I know seeing is believing I can't believe what I'm seeing

I was crying with both eyes open But now all is quiet on dripfeed lottery night Curse the dugong, free the jet ski, Suckling babies at the eski Invite the looters back the price is right.
