Someone Else to Blame

Midnight Oil

Tell for yourself, watch me sweat, watch me crawl Stretch me on the table, up against the wall You can see for yourself, but you better not say You're working four more hours every other day

See me suffer see me pain Must be someone else to blame See me suffer see me pain

There's more trouble at the dockyard Party's shouting at the union Short fuses on their anger Workers in confusion
Then there's the vandals of the right They stalk the streets at night Got someone else to fight Got someone else to blame

See me suffer see me pain Must be someone else to blame See me suffer see me pain

You can speak for yourself
Before the moment is lost
But I don't wanna shout cos I' m counting the cost
I'm counting the cost

See me suffer see me pain Must be someone else to blame See me suffer see me pain
