

Crossing a Line

Mike Shinoda

They'll tell you I don't care anymore
And I hope you'll know that's a lie
Cause I've found what I have been waiting for
But to get there means crossing a line

I don't know how to warn you / for what I'm gonna say
Cause you're holding so tight to / what I'm taking away
I got demons inside me / so I'm faced with a choice
Either try to ignore them / or I give them a voice

And it's keeping me up at night
Worried it's not alright
Holding back things you don't know
And it's keeping me up at night
Worried it's not alright
You're not gonna like where this goes

And they'll
Tell you I don't care anymore
And I hope you'll know that's a lie
Cause I've found what I have been waiting for
But to get there means crossing a line
So I'm crossing a line

It's not about status / we know it never was
Cause what good is the kingdom / when you're missing the love
This is not a goodbye now / I'm not going away
No I don't have the answers / but I do have the faith

And it's keeping me up at night
Worried it's not alright
Holding back things you don't know
And it's keeping me up at night
Worried it's not alright
You're not gonna like where this goes
NO

And they'll
Tell you I don't care anymore
And I hope you'll know that's a lie
Cause I've found what I have been waiting for
But to get there means crossing a line
So I'm crossing a line

And they'll
Tell you I don't care anymore
And I hope you'll know that's a lie
Cause I've found what I have been waiting for
But to get there means crossing a line
So I'm crossing a line
